OFFICE CULTURE

Friendly, informal, supportive, practical, efficient and business-like. Responsibility and initiative are encouraged.

The firm believes that in addition to providing a highly professional service and nurturing its staff, it has an obligation towards the wider community.

WHY APPLY TO CLYDE & CO?

We select only a small number of trainees to join us each year. So it's a real opportunity. As one of a select few, the training you receive is tailored to your needs. You will be quickly integrated into the firm and are given as much responsibility as you can handle. Trainees are a valued part of the team from their first day. From the outset you're treated as an individual.

TRAINING AND YOUR CAREER

Being a solicitor requires strong knowledge and skills. Achieving your ambitions as a solicitor depends on receiving good training from the outset. The high quality of training received at Clyde & Co will help you contribute to maintaining the firm's reputation for excellence in client service. It also assists in building your own contacts in the firm's client markets, which is essential to your career advancement.

HOW ARE YOU TRAINED?

Close supervision, coaching and attendance at external courses are complemented by a comprehensive programme of in-house courses which is designed to enhance your technical knowledge.

WHAT DO THE TRAINING PROGRAMMES COVER?

We recognise that commercial appreciation and understanding business objectives are critical to clients, as well as your own career success, so our training is broad. Clyde & Co's breadth and international practice is reflected in our regular lectures and seminars on legal systems and global business. There are also opportunities for secondment to our Shanghai, Dubai, UK and other offices (subject to COVID-19 situation).

Our programme of legal, interpersonal, client care, and communication skills training, also includes tuition on effective networking, helping you develop your own contacts.

APPLICATION

APPLY THROUGH WEBSITE

- We prefer applicants with at least 2.1 degree or equivalent who have the ability to analyse a problem, develop focused solutions and communicate clearly.
- When selecting candidates for interview, we look at not just academic achievements, but also personal qualities and extra-curriculum activities.
- Our offer of a training contract is conditional upon successful completion at the first attempt of the Postgraduate Certificate of Laws (PCLL) course in Hong Kong. Sponsorship is provided for the PCLL course for those candidates who obtain a training contract with us.

Details of our placement programmes and training contracts, how to apply, and application deadlines can be found on our website:
